Is Life Worth Living?

That depends upon the Liver. If the Liver is inactive the whole system is out of order—the breath is bad, digestion poor, head dull or aching, energy and hopefulness gone, the spirit is depressed, a heavy weight exists after eating, with general despondency and the blues. The Liver is the housekeeper of the health; and a harmless, simple remedy that acts like Nature, does not constipate afterwards or require constant taking, does not interfere with business or pleasure during its use, makes Simmons Liver Regulator a medical perfection.

I have tested its virtues personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Throbbing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw. Have tried forty other remedies before Simmons Liver Regulator, and none of them gave more than temporary relief, but the Regulator not only relieved but cured.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

KATE FIELD'S POSITIVE IDEAS CONCERNING WOMAN'S DUTIES.

The Co-operative Home Association—Actresses in Newspaper Offices—Southern Women—A Teacher's Presence of Mind. Items of Interest for Housekeepers.

Miss Kate Field, the author, lecturer and traveler, is a very positive woman. If you ask her a question she replies to it very frankly, yes or no. But if she doesn't understand the matter she promptly asks why. Talking to her the other day about what women are doing in the various fields of labor, I asked her if she noticed that women were really making progress. Frankly she answered: "I know nothing about it. But I do know this, that mothers and wives are singularly remiss in one important department of life. The percentage of women who know how to cook, how to dress properly and how to educate their children is very small. They begin wrong. They have never studied the chemistry of foods, for example. Some of them cannot tell to save their lives when food is properly prepared. They use no judgment in the foods they select for themselves and their families, and they know little about cooking. It is the same with dress. They follow the fashion, regardless of all hygienic laws, simply because it is the fashion, and they are ignorant of the laws of health.

One of the greatest necessities of our day, I think, is that more attention shall be paid to physical culture. Mothers should learn to understand the importance of this most important of all things in life. They should begin by instructing their children properly, so they may become healthy and strong. Then they should see that they are properly dressed and have a sufficient amount of nutritious food to sustain the body. It is easy enough for the women of America to make the next generation the most splendid one in our history if they will only pay some attention to themselves. When they have done this it will be time enough to begin to talk about women's progress."—Foster Coates in New York Mail and Express.

The Co-operative Home Association.

There is no greater public need at the present time than for a plan for co-operative housekeeping, which shall provide in large cities refined homes within the reach of people of moderate means, and at the same time do away with the burdens of individual housekeeping.

An association which aims to answer all of these requirements is about to be formed in this city. Its main object is to band together people who wish to share in co-operative housekeeping.

The general plan is to hire large houses in different locations to suit the various tastes and means, and to rent the rooms in these houses to members at a little above actual cost of rent and running expenses, the percentage above cost to be used as a sinking fund. The cost of the public parlors, reception and other public rooms, and of general attendance, will be shared equally by residents.

It is expected to supply each house with telephones, district messenger call and every convenience, and as the association grows it is hoped that reading rooms and gymnasiums may be opened in large houses. It is proposed also to form reading circles and to have lectures and musical entertainments given occasionally in the parlors.

If the residents of any house so decide, the large parlors may be rented once or twice a week to societies and the proceeds applied to the payment of general expenses. Vacant rooms may be rented in the same way to parties who are not members.

It is hoped the membership will be large enough to warrant opening one house on April 1.—New York Business Woman's Journal.

Actresses in Newspaper Offices.

Mrs. A. M. Palmer, Miss Georgia Cayvan, Mrs. Agnes Booth-Schœffel and Mrs. Edward E. Kidder, the executive officers of the women's committee for the Actors' fund fair, are working very hard. On Wednesday these four ladies started out after breakfast, under escort of Mr. Daniel Frohman, to secure the aid of the newspapers in giving publicity to their amiable plans. They courageously climbed long flights of dusty stairs and ventured into dingy elevators in order to reach the editorial dens. During their peregrinations these ladies learned a good deal about newspaper life, and were astonished to see rooms and desks littered with torn paper and exchanges. Mrs. Schœffel now knows that a "stickful" is twenty-four lines of type, and she understands how news is collected and edited. Miss Cayvan proved her capability as a secretary by clearly presenting the scope of work laid down by her committee. Mrs. Palmer, as president, knew what the committee wanted published, and suggested an outline in a very delightful way, while Mrs. Kidder added her charming influence.

These ladies did not conclude their tour until 6 p. m., when Agnes Booth and Georgia Cayvan had to hasten home for a hurried dinner, as they had to be in costume at Palmer's theater and the Lyceum before the curtains rose at 8 o'clock. That the Actors' fund fair will be a success is assured when four delicately bred women undertake such a task as these ladies performed on Wednesday.—New York Advertiser.

Southern Women.

The women of the south are yet in that transition stage which must come between earnest inquiry and interest and the full acceptance of the new methods and opportunities for women. They are naturally anxious to know of their increased privileges, and to see the open doors, but there is no aggressiveness. On the contrary, the typical southern woman, though active and capable, always prefers to feel and to have the world believe that the men of the family are the leaders, fully able to take care of all affairs save those in the home. She may in truth work herself to death, and take all sorts of shifts and turns in private, but this is her creed, inherited from grandmothers' grandmothers of the long ago. She believes, as old Uncle Harvey on the plantation puts it, "De head ur de fambly ought ter allus hab some money in his pocket."

The progress of development in the woman's world therefore lies much in social lines—literary clubs, art clubs, afternoon teas, etc. No explosive questions are proposed; the trend of thought follows a mental current with no underflow of reform in any way; questions of art, of literature, of travel are all discussed at the delightful afternoon fortnightlies, held in the different parlors, with astonishing clearness and closeness. One might venture to say that the greatest readers and deepest students are usually found among women away from the centers. They get from reading what their sisters in the whirl gain by absorption.—Harper's Bazar.

A Teacher with Presence of Mind.

The Fourteenth district school building at the corner of Freeman and Poplar streets was the scene of what might have been a terrible panic recently. Only a plucky little teacher's prompt action and true heroism prevented a mad rush of more than 100 little children down two flights of stairs and the almost unavoidable crushing and mangling of dozens of little forms. The children had just assembled in the third grade room, and the teacher, Miss Bessie Williams, had given several permission to dry their clothes before the stove. One of these, little Mamie Sites, aged eight years, it seems, got too near the open door, and her dress was drawn in.

The clothing blazed up immediately, and with a scream the little one made a wild rush for the door leading down stairs. A second later every pupil in the room was out of its seat and running toward the stairway. Miss Williams, however, reached the door first, and bracing herself against it, caught the burning figure and beat out the fire with her hands. By this time nearly all the children and teachers in the building were on the scene, but quiet was soon restored.

The unfortunate child was not badly burned, but was allowed to go home. Miss Williams' hands were severely blistered and badly burned in several places, but she kept nobly at her desk and taught the class through the day.—Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette.

A Woman Rancher.

Among the most successful "ranchers" in the west is Mrs. Emma Perry, who for four years has conducted a cattle ranch near Marena, in the western part of Kansas. Instead of being the typical farm manager, masculine in appearance, Mrs. Perry is small in stature, refined in manner, fair of face, with blond hair and expressive gray eyes. She is less than thirty years of age, though how much less she will not state. She is an intellectual woman, a clever conversationist, and during the last campaign was able to give her neighbors much information about current events.

In the spring of 1887 Mrs. Perry was left a widow after less than a year of married life. During her husband's illness she intrusted his business to others, the result being that the ranch affairs were found to be in a most deplorable condition, and bankruptcy stared her in the face when she took possession of the property. Partly to save something from the impending wreck and partly to occupy her mind after her great loss she assumed control of the estate and became its active manager. Owning a section of land, seventy-five head of cattle and a few ponies, Mrs. Perry commenced her new life, bearing in mind the many wrecks all about her. Rising early and retiring late, much of her time in the saddle, she soon had order restored and her business affairs well in hand.—Chicago Tribune.

Time to Start Pansies.

It is not too early to start pansies for blossoming outdoors. The seed should be sown in a window box, set in a sunny window in a cold room, but where it does not freeze. Pansies love a cool, moist atmosphere. The soil of the window box should be kept rather wet till the seeds begin to germinate. When they are well up, thin them out, fertilize them a little with a teaspoonful of guano dissolved in a quart of water and protect them from the sun in the middle of the day, but do not give them any more heat. As soon as the ground thaws they will be all the better for being planted outdoors, if they are protected at night. There is no spring flower that will give such fragrance and variety of color as the pansy. These "little stepmothers" as the Germans lovingly call them, show their full beauty and bloom only in the moist early spring. The great velvety blossoms diminish in size as soon as the summer comes and no care will preserve their size and beauty. They are essentially a spring flower and their beds should be refilled by June 1 with summer flowers, and a fresh supply of pansies should be sown in the late autumn or winter for the succeeding spring.—New York Tribune.

Womanliness and Royalty.

All women will appreciate the womanliness of the English queen, who with her own hands made the superb wreath which she sent to lay upon the bier of her grandson, the late Duke of Clarence, as "a mark of tender affection and love from his most devoted, loving and sorrowful grandmother, Victoria R. I." And few women will withhold a thrill of sisterly sympathy as they read of the touching little incident which occurred after the benediction at the close of the services in St. George's chapel, when the "Duke of Teck handed the Prince of Wales a small wreath, which the prince tenderly laid on the coffin. It was her bridal wreath of orange blossoms which, by Princess May's wish, was placed on the coffin of her beloved one."—London Letter.

A woman's education should be thoroughly practical to enable her intelligently to govern and develop her home kingdom.

SPLIT ON THE SILVER QUESTION.

The Republicans of the First Congressional District of Colorado met in Denver to elect delegates to the State Convention, which is to be held April 27. Some of the delegates were for Harrison for President and others were decidedly against him, because of his hostility to silver. The Federal officers, and those who hope to be Federal officers, declared for Harrison under all circumstances, while those who do not expect any favors from the Administration, vowed they would not support him unless he signed a free coinage bill, if such a bill should pass Congress. The delegates from Aspen and Boulder counties declared against Harrison and those from Denver favored him, so the battle was a drawn one, which will be renewed in the State Convention which will be held in April.

It seems preposterous at first thought that President Harrison, an avowed goldite should receive a vote in a silver producing State, but upon consideration it will not appear so surprising. Politics is a business with some people, and those who have secured offices under the Administration would naturally support the President, whatever his views might be on any subject. The masses of the people, however do not entertain such feelings of loyalty. They are under no particular obligations to the President, and they want a man in the White House whose ideas are in accord with their own on silver, tariff and other questions, which might be amicably settled outside of politics were it not for the politicians.

PROTESTING AGAINST A SUBSIDY.

A scheme is on foot to get the United States Government to guarantee the payment of principal and interest on bonds to build the Nicaragua Canal. Several favor the proposition on the ground that the completion of the canal would be of incalculable benefit to commerce. It would undoubtedly lower the rates of transportation between the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts and increase commerce between the East and West, but if it is to be built by the United States there is no reason why the United States should not own it. That was the view Senator Stewart took of the matter in Congress a year ago last Winter and that is the view the farmers of California are taking of it now. The Farmers' Alliance, which is composed of taxpayers, resolved against a Government subsidy of any kind to the canal unless the canal is absolutely owned and controlled by the United States Government. The Alliance declared that the farmers are tired of seeing the Government machinery used by scheming monopolists to pull their chestnuts out of the fire, and are unalterably opposed to the Government issuing more bonds for gold bugs to clip coupons from while they have to work steadily and practice rigid economy to live.

There is force and sense in what the farmers say. If the Nicaragua Canal cannot be built, unless the United States Government guarantees the money for its construction and it is deemed necessary to build it, then the Government should own and control it.

OPPOSITION RAIN MAKERS.

It is telegraphed from Topeka, Kansas, that two companies have been organized in that city for rain making purposes. The officers are selling the secret at the rate of $2,500 for a county, or they will contract to furnish from one to two inches of rain at the rate of $600 per county. Agents of the companies are at work in California and Arizona and it is claimed that they succeeded in producing rain to order in both places.

While there are grave doubts as to the ability of the companies to cause it to rain at will it is evident that some people must have confidence in their ability or they would not be investing money in the enterprise. General Dyrenforth, who went under the auspices of the Government to Texas to test the dynamite method of rain making, claims to have succeeded, yet there seems to be no disposition on the part of the Government to make further tests. The Kansas companies do not use explosives but rely on chemicals to form clouds in the clearest sky and bring down rain in twenty-four hours in the dryest climate.

A RUFFIANLY OFFICIAL.

The Postmaster at Rock Creek, Wyoming, is acquiring a reputation for ruffianism that ought to consign him not only to private life, but to the penitentiary. His name is Gillespie, and he keeps the Government office in a small store of his own. A short time ago he clubbed to insensibility a citizen who intimated that his failure to receive a remittance from the East was due to local causes. It appears that he escaped punishment for the offense, which emboldened him to such an extent that a few days ago he cracked the skull of D. S. Griffin, for asserting that his daughter should be given the mail for the family without a written order. Gillespie swore that he was tired of hearing kicks from Griffin and he set upon him with an iron bar, inflicting nine scalp wounds. Griffin's recovery is doubtful, and Gillespie has been arrested.

"Some of the Nevada papers are still waiting for Hill to cross the silver bridge. Please whistle when he does."—Silver State. Hill said he would cross that bridge when he got to it, and he has not reached it yet. When the free coinage bill comes up in the Senate Hill will doubtless vote for it.

The well known economist and financier, Erastus Wiman, talks seriously of war between England and the United States as the outcome of the Bebring Sea complications.

Wholesale Shooting Affray.

TIFFIN, Ohio, March 15.—"Walter Synder has shot Ed Naylor, Burt Crobaugh and the man Downey and killed himself" was the announcement that greeted the people of Tiffin while going to their places of business this morning. Snyder was aged 45 and unmarried, and was one of the most popular men in the city. Naylor and Crobaugh are members of the firm by which he was employed, and Thos. Downey is a fellow clerk. Naylor and Crobaugh were recently admitted to a partnership with John M. Naylor, in the hardware business. They were clerks before, and comments were made at Synder not having been taken in. It has since been learned that Synder, though worth perhaps $20,000, had his money so tied up in real estate that he could not take an interest in the business, and it seemed perfectly satisfactory to him at the time, but later it preyed upon his mind.

He entered the store this morning and found the others already there. He made a pretense of desiring Crobaugh and Naylor to examine the contents of a box which he had just received by express, and when they were at his side he shot them both, then turned the revolver on Downey, who entered to save the lives of the others. Crobaugh will recover. Downey was hit three times and his recovery is not probable.

It is not thought possible for Naylor to recover. Business is paralyzed for the day, the tragedy being one of the greatest sensations ever occurring in this part of the State. The street in front of the premises is blocked by thousands of people. It has been learned that Synder took several drinks of whisky prior to the shooting. A line of blue around his neck is supposed to have been made by an attempt to commit suicide during the night. Downey and Crobaugh are in an extremely critical condition.

House Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The tariff discussion is beginning to tire the House and there is a lack of interest in the proceedings. However, the interest to-day was revived somewhat when Walker of Massachusetts took the floor and a number of Democrats stirred him up with a continuous cross fire of questions. During his speech he alluded to the decline in the price of watches, taking his own piece out of his pocket and placing it on the desk until ready to make a point, it was appropriated by a fun-loving member, and when he looked for it, it was suggested that he (Walker) was fortunate in keeping the chain.

The conference report on the urgency deficiency bill was presented and agreed to. As passed, the bill appropriates $479,641.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the free wool bill, and Coombs of New York concluded his speech in favor of the bill.

After Coombs finished speaking, Walker of Massachusetts said that most of the statements made by the Democratic orators on the subject of protective tariff were not even technically true. It was not of the slightest interest to manufacturers whether we have free trade or protection, but Congress was not legislating for manufacturers it was legislating for the farmers and wage workers. Walker then entered into a general defense of the McKinley law, declaring that within a year our foreign trade had increased 27 per cent on account of the law's provisions.

Scott of Illinois attacked the law, holding up its injustice and inequalities as bearing on the consumer, and laying special stress on the constitutionality of the sugar bounty provision.

Chipman of Michigan denounced the system of protection as building up the few at the expense of the many.

Dockery of Missouri said the McKinley bill only increased the farmers' burdens and the reciprocity scheme would prove fallacious.

The Committee then arose and the House adjourned.

A Good Bill.

PARIS, March 15.—In the Chamber of Deputies, Ricard, Minister of Justice, introduced a bill signed by President Carnot, at a Cabinet council this afternoon, introducing a clause in the penal code making wilful destruction of property by means of explosives punishable with death.

Still Unsettled.

DENVER, March 15.—The affairs of the defunct wholesale whisky firm of Boehm & Co. are still unsettled. No detailed statement of the liabilities has been made, but rumors place them between $250,000 and $300,000.

Cabinet Meeting Proceedings

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The Cabinet meeting was attended by all the members except Blaine, Foster and Noble. The issue of proclamations of retaliation against all countries which refused to enter into reciprocal relations with the United States, under the terms of the McKinley Act, was the principal subject under discussion. It was decided to issue proclamations of this character this afternoon against three countries of South America. These are understood to be Columbia, Honduras and Venezuela, but it cannot be stated positively.

The Behring sea question was referred to incidentally. It is pretty well settled that nothing further will be done in the matter until Salisbury replies to the President's note of the 8th, insisting on a renewal of the modus vivendi.

If a response from Salisbury is not soon received it is understood the President will call the attention of the British Minister here to the fact that the Government is awaiting Salisbury's reply and asking that the matter be brought to his attention.

A Row at Monte Carlo.

MONTE CARLO, March 15.—An exciting row occurred to-day in the gambling saloon of the casino here. A man offended a woman who boxed his ears. The affair drew every one's attention and friends of both parties took a hand in the affair. The general row which followed was only quelled by the appearance of the police, who arrested all parties in the fracas.

Among those in the saloon was Lady Randolph Churchill, and during the fight her pocket was picked of a large sum.

Missing Miners Heard From

PORT TOWNSEND, March 15.—Latest advices from Alaska are to the effect that the missing miners have been heard from. Just as the steamer, City of Topeka, was leaving Sitka on its last trip down, Morris Orton, the leader of the party, came aboard. He had come in a sailing schooner from Yakitta Station where he left the party, all of whom he reports well. The miners have been absent since last November and have suffered many hardships.

Royalty in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—The trading schooner Faraway arrived here to-day from the South Sea Islands, having on board King Toubrano, of one of the Gilbert Islands.

The barkentine Tropic Bird brings news that a boat containing twelve of the crew of the ship Clara, which was burned at sea, had arrived at Tahiti. They were supposed to have been lost.

Silver to Come First.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—At a conference of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee to-day it was decided not to press the vote on the naval bill in advance of taking up the silver special order, but resume the consideration of the bill after the special order relative to the Bland bill is disposed of.

Railroad Men at Monterey.

MONTEREY, Cal., March 15.—The general passenger and ticket agents of the United States, to the number of two hundred, and many of them accompanied by their wives and families, arrived at the Hotel Del Monte to day, where their annual convention meets to-morrow.

Annihilation of a Valuable Industry.

LONDON, March 15.—The St. James Gazette to-day publishes a letter signed "Member of Commons," in which hope is expressed that England will not insist upon her claims in the Behring Sea matter, as the instance will be an annihilation of a valuable industry.

Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The conference report on the urgent deficiency bill was agreed to and the military academy appropriation bill passed. After an executive session the Senate adjourned.

Dancing Killed Him at Seventy-nine.

James McCarty, of Gaskill township, one of the most unique characters of Jefferson county, and perhaps of the state, died Friday, aged seventy-nine years. His death was caused by overheating himself dancing in the open air, for old as he was McCarty could still keep step to a tune in a very lively fashion. He would often play the violin and dance to the music for half an hour at a time, greatly to the amusement of the onlookers. For years his occupation has been hunting. Up to the time of his last illness he was remarkably active.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

A Train of Elevator Cars.

From an elevator point of view the new Masonic temple building in Chicago will be the most important in the world. It will have twenty-four cars built in a circular shaft having a 250 foot rise. There will be express elevators, way and freight trains. The first will go to the top floor without stopping, while the others will stop either at every floor, or at the fifth, tenth, fifteenth and so on. They will not run at full speed, probably because passengers do not like the sensation of flying.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

A Solid Silver Dinner Service.

Probably the most magnificent complimentary present ever received by a European sovereign is the emperor of Austria's silver wedding gift to the czar. It consists of a dinner service of solid silver, superbly wrought and chased, each piece bearing an imperial eagle. The service is for twenty-four persons, and there are 230 pieces.—London Truth.

Cotton Seed Oil Generates Fire.

The recent losses by fire in the cargo of ships carrying cotton has shown that cotton seed oil, when held in the cotton on the outside of the bale, rapidly oxidizes and generates spontaneous combustion.

THEY ALSO SERVE.

"They also serve who only stand and wait."
Take comfort from that thought in lonely hours,
When naught seems set aside for you by fate
To do, while others have far richer dowers.

With days brim full of hope and work and love,
Full to the brim and haply running o'er,
The angels, watching from their homes above,
Can see how sad the waiting is—how sore.

But if the waiting is not all in vain—
If those who wait are serving truly too—
Oh, then they need not mind the nameless pain,
But think it is the part they are to do.

And peace and rest will fill the lonely days
That once were filled with naught but pain and woe,
For, though we cannot understand His ways,
Enough to know Our Father wills it so.

THE HOSTESS AND HER GUESTS.

An Afternoon Tea Has Come to Be an Interesting Game of Hide and Seek.

There seems to be some misunderstanding abroad in the community, and very likely elsewhere as well as in Boston, in regard to the true functions of the hostess at an afternoon tea; and the editor, who goes about burdened with the terrific consciousness that he is the only person alive who knows the exact truth about everything, is willing to give an otherwise unoccupied moment in the elucidation of the matter.

The duties of a hostess at an afternoon tea, then, are far more simple than they are at most social functions. It is first and primarily her duty to welcome everybody who arrives with either the air of greeting her dearest friends or with the blase and wearied air of one who has got beyond the point where any mortal was of the slightest possible interest to her. It is at the option of the hostess which of these manners she will choose, and of course if she is a clever woman, she selects the one which is most becoming to her style of face and figure, and dresses to suit the manner decided upon.

This being done, or rather this point being attended to, the only other duty of the hostess which is of any especial importance is the breaking up of any interesting and pleasant conversation. If she perceives—and it is her duty to be on the watch with eagle eyes—that two persons are enjoying each other's society, or that a couple are chatting together with any animation, it is imperative that she should swoop down upon them instantly, saying:

"There, you two cannot stay here talking all the afternoon."

She must then select as a partner for each in a new conversation the person in the company who is most completely disagreeable to him and to her and arrange each to his most complete dissatisfaction.

This is the great and most imperative object of an afternoon tea. The hostess is not a success who leaves two agreeable and harmonious persons within speaking distance for more than an insignificant fraction of a moment; and it is by her power of making things unpleasant that her cleverness and social savoir faire are to be judged.

This peculiar form of social torture is mitigated by the part which the guest is expected to play. It is his right and privilege to do all in his power to circumvent the schemes of the hostess for his unhappiness, and to arrange the most pleasant possible tete-a-tetes in her despite. The longer he can prolong them, moreover, the greater is his rank as a social lion.

An afternoon tea thus becomes a sort of game, in which the cleverness of the hostess is pitted against the cleverness of the guest. The odds in favor of the hostess are the contrariety of circumstances, the conventions of society which forbid the victims to leave the unwelcome partners to whom they are presented except in ceremonious ways, and the fact that for the time being the guests are under her orders.

On the part of the guests, however, is the fact that there are so many couples that it is an exceedingly clever hostess who can keep track of them all, and also the possibility of getting into some ely and secluded nook where she will not think to look. Of course the hostess knows the corners in her own house pretty thoroughly, but she has not the time while attending to so many guests to run out every few moments to explore the conservatory if it is open, to look under the stairs in the hall, to peer into the bay windows and to examine any alcove which the feminine foresight of a masculine architect has smuggled into the designs of her house for her confusion.

The odds are about even in the game it is evident, and yet—and yet it is the editor's painful conviction that it is always the hostess who gets the better in the game!—Boston Courier.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. THE ARID LAND SCHEME

What a Wyoming Farmer Says About It.

New York World.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE WORLD:—A bill has been introduced in Congress providing for the transfer of the arid lands of all this Inter-Rocky Mountain regions to the States upon the condition that the States shall reclaim this land through irrigation, by building great reservoirs in the mountains in which to store up the water. Now at first glance this looks very nice. It would be a great blessing to the people at large if these reservoirs could be built and the waste water of the melting snow in early Summer be saved, for it is a well-known fact that the agricultural area of all this country is limited to the amount of water that the streams afford.

There is only about enough water, without reservoirs, to irrigate about one-fifth of the prairie lands. The question is whether the transfer of the entire public domain to State control is the best plan to accomplish this end? Cannot the United States do this better than can the States? If so, then let the United States appropriate the money arising from the sales of this land to this beneficial purpose.

IN THE INTEREST OF CORPORATIONS.

It looks to us who are on the ground that this is a speculative scheme to get control of this land; as soon as the State has control it will sell it in large bodies to great corporations on conditions that they reclaim said lands. They will go through the farce of putting water upon it; and when they get control they will fence it and convert it into great cattle pastures, that will effectually shut off the ranges from actual settlers who have braved the hardships of frontier life to build up the country.

IT WOULD EFFECTUALLY STOP IMIGRATION

To our new country, for the homestead law would be practically a dead letter, and instead of actual settlers coming here with their families and settling upon a quarter section of land and making a home for themselves there would be only a cattle ranch to many thousand acres. Is that the kind of settlers we want? Certainly not. We want every available acre of land on which water can be placed, saved for actual bona-fide homestead settlers. Let these poor imigrants come here and settle this land and convert it in to productive farms to feed the thousands who will come in the near future to work in our mines and manufactures.

Our land is the most productive land that the world ever saw, and all we want is a market to make farming a great paying industry. But as we are at present situated, if you let the range pass into the control of great corporations and they fence up the range our farmers will find that they can keep only a limited number of cattle on their homesteads; and the raising of stock is the only business at present that will bring in any money.

NOW LET US LOOK AT THE PAST WORKING

Of the land laws and see how these great syndicates have gobbled up the land. The plan was this: A great cattle company would have their cowboys file pre-emption and desert claims on land and the companies would furnish the money and pay them besides to enter the land for them. The result was that these companies got control of large bodies of the very best land in this country. One company owns a body of land adjoining this town on the south. It is all fenced nearly ten miles south and from one to three miles wide.

On the north another company owns all the beautiful valley of Goose Creek, except one or two quarter sections. Another company owns in the southeast part of the country the valley of Clear Creek for about forty miles and has it fenced. They thus practically own the range on both sides of the valley.

Now, if they could gobble up the fairest and best portions of the country under the restrictions of the land laws of the United States, what will they be able to do when they get the land in the hands of the State? They all control the Legislature and have it all in their hands. But they say that they will reclaim the land. Well, let us see how they reclaimed this land under the Desert Act. They simply made a few dry ditches, and in some instances put a little water through them.

THE DIFFERENCE

No one to-day can tell any difference in the land so reclaimed and that is lying unclaimed, except that they have it fenced up for pasture. Now, will the Congress of the United States let the schemers rob the farmers who braved the perils of frontier life to make homes for themselves and to build up a civilized country?

We appeal to you not to let this bill pass; it is not to the good of this State to pass this bill.

It will not build reservoirs or reclaim one acre of land; it will not make homes for the homeless; it will only turn the land into the hands of great corporations for stock pastures.

It is very true that there are vast tracts of land in all portions of this country that can never be made fit for farming, simply for the reason that water cannot be put upon it. Without water it will produce only the wild native bunch grass, and it is therefore fit only for grazing purposes.

Should it be put upon the market it would only bring a small price, which would amount to very little towards building reservoirs. It would be far better for it to remain in the hands of the United States. Let the people have the use of it to pasture their stock upon, for it is well known that stock, when they have large quantities of range to feed upon, can live on the range all the year.

By letting this range be open to everybody, stock can be raised with very little trouble, and what land can be irrigated can be planted to alfalfa and feed grown to feed the stock a few months during the hardest part of the Winter. This plan will give all classes of people an equal chance—the poor ranchman as well as the rich cattleman. W. J. STOVER.

Sheridan, Wyoming.

Coming Attraction.

Joseph R. Grismer and Phœbe Davies' Company will occupy the stage of McKissick's Opera House to-morrow night presenting for the first time here "The Burglar," dramatized from Mrs. Frances Burnett's story 'Editha's Burglar" by Augustus Thomas, author of "Alabama." Speaking of the play, the Boston Herald say: Everybody has seen "Editha's Burglar," that sweet little sketch which Mr. Gus Thomas made out of Mrs. Burnett's story; and everybody knows that it is one of the daintiest and one of the most pathetic bits of dramatic work that he ever laughed at or cried over in all his theater going experience. It was therefore warrantable to expect that in amplifying the sketch of Editha and her burglar, and giving the whole chain of events of which the story was a bright link, Mr. Thomas would turn out even better work than the advance sample. He does not disappoint us. The dialogue is bright and terse. The author shows ability of unusual quality, and "The Burglar" will be made a success.

The Rhode Island Republican State Convention yesterday nominated D. Russell Brown for Governor; Melville Bull for Lieutenant Governor; George H. Utter, Secretary of State; Attorney General, Robert W. Burbank; State Treasurer, Samuel Clark; and placed them on a platform opposing the free coinage of silver, endorsing reciprocity, as the Republicans call it, or free trade as the Democrats term it, declaring protection the cardinal principle of the party and approving the Administration of President Harrison.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

The Pioche Record gives an example of the effect of silver demonetization as follows: "The furnaces were shut down Monday, February 29th, at 5:30, and the employes at the smelter and upon the Pioche and Jack Rabbit railroad were given their time. About fifty men altogether were laid off from the smelter and railroad. They are making arrangements to leave camp. Our streets are nearly deserted now. Thus doth our glory fade."

The Mother of an Empress Dead.

Both the emperor and empress of Austria were too unwell to go to the funeral of the empress' mother, who died last week at the age of eighty-six, having survived her husband nearly four years. The empress is now at Istria, and her medical attendants are very anxious as to the possible effect of her mother's death on her mind and health. The Princess Louise Wilhelmina was a woman of strong character and great energy. She inherited none of the peculiarities of the Bavarian royal family, and always exercised a salutary influence on her daughter, whose eccentricities she often checked at an opportune moment. She spent nearly the whole of her life at Munich, where she was born during the troubles occasioned by the invasion of Napoleon I.—London World.

DISTRICT COURT SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE STATE of Nevada, in and for Washoe County. The State of Nevada sends to M. P. Mury greeting:

You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Mary P. Mury as plaintiff in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons, exclusive of day of service, if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county but within said district, and in all other cases forty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to recover a decree of this Court dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between you, M. P. Mury, defendant, and Mary P. Mury, plaintiff and for a decree awarding the care, custody and control of Edith Mury, the issue of said marriage, to plaintiff upon the grounds:

First—That you on or about the — day of April, A. D., 1890, willfully and without cause, deserted and abandoned plaintiff, and ever since said time have lived separate and apart from her without any cause or reason, and against her consent, and Second—That for more than one year immediately prior to the commencement of this action you have failed, refused and neglected to provide for plaintiff the common necessaries of life, and which said neglect, failure and refusal was not occasioned by ill health poverty or misfortune which you could not avoid by ordinary industry, you having the ability to furnish said common necessaries of life for plaintiff.

All of which will more fully appear from the complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said County, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

[SEAL.] In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court at Reno, this 22d day of January, A. D., 1892. O. H. PERRY.

Clerk of the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe county.

By W. L. Knox, Deputy.

C. A. Jones, Attorney for plaintiff. jan31w6

ASSESSMENT NOTICE.

SOUTH SIDE DRAIN DITCH COMPANY—Location of ditch, Washoe county, Nevada. Principal place of business, Reno, in said county.

Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the above-named company, held on the 5th day of March, 1892, an assessment (No. 10) of nine and one-half cents (9½c) per share was levied on each and every share of the capital stock of the company, represented by each and every acre of land benefited by said ditch, payable immediately in United States gold coin to John B. Williams, Secretary and Treasurer at his office in the Court House, Reno, Nevada. Any stock upon which this assessment shall remain unpaid on Saturday, the 9th Day of April, 1892,

Shall be deemed delinquent, and such proceedings as may be necessary will be had against the land benefited, and against the delinquent owner, to collect such delinquent assessment, together with the costs and expenses.

By order of the Board of Trustees.

JOHN B. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

Reno, March 9, 1892. mar10td

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT IN PURsuance of the order of the District Court of Nevada, for Washoe county, made on the 9th day of March, 1892, in the matter of the estate of A. A. Longley, deceased, the undersigned Administrator of said estate, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, in one parcel, and subject to confirmation by said District Court, on Saturday, the 2d day of April, 1892.

At 12 o'clock noon, in front of the Court House in Reno, Washoe County, Nevada, all the right, title interest and estate of the said intestate at the time of his death, and all the right title and interest that the said estate has, by operation of law or otherwise acquired other than or in addition to that of the said intestate at the time of his death, in and to all those certain lots, pieces or parcels of land, situate, lying and being in the said County of Washoe, and described as follows, to-wit:

NW ¼ and N ½ of SW ¼ of Section 32, and NE ¼ of SE ¼ of Section 32, T 19 N, R 20 E, and S ½ of Se ¼ of Section 19, and NE ¼ of N ½ of SE ¼ of Section 30, T 19 N, R 20 E, M D B and M, containing in all about 556 acres, and known as the Longley Ranch, with the improvements, water rights and appurtenances thereto belonging. Terms and conditions of sale—Cash. Ten per cent. of the purchase money to be paid to the auctioneer on the day of sale, and balance on confirmation of sale by the District Court.

MARY O. LONGLEY,

Administratrix of the estate of A. A. Longley, deceased. mar12

Poison in Wall Paper.

The report of the Massachusetts state board of health relative to arsenic in wall paper has been submitted to the legislature. It was found that in 1,018 samples collected in twenty cities and towns 389 contained arsenic in appreciable quantities. According to the report, about 3 per cent. of the papers manufactured today contains more than one-tenth of a grain of arsenic per square yard, against 30 per cent., approximately, ten years ago. Between 60 and 70 per cent. of the papers sold are free from arsenic, while about 6 per cent. contain more than one-twentieth of a grain per square yard.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Two Women's Lives.

Miss Martha Seymour, aged ninety years, has died at McLemoresville of the grip. She lived with her sister Mollie, aged ninety-three, for over forty years, and they were known as "the secluded sisters." Miss Mollie stated that her sister was engaged to be married, and two weeks before the wedding day her lover was killed by a jealous rival. The shock broke her heart and she could not love again. They were happy in each other's love, and did not desire other company. They never rode on a railroad, and have not attended church in over forty years.—Cor. Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.

A Hotel for Women.

Two ladies of New York are the promoters of a scheme for starting a hotel for women only. There are to be no rules. The lights are not to be turned out at a fixed hour, as was the edict in Stewart's women's hotel. Neither pianos nor sewing machines are to be tabooed, nor is the money making typewriter to be forbidden. The whole is to be conducted on the lines of the ordinary hotel boarding house, except that women only are to be admitted.—Yankee Blade.

The "Alexandra Limp."

When the Princess of Wales became lame many years ago through a white swelling in her knee, many English women affected a slight halt. The "Alexandra limp" was all the style. Since she became hard of hearing I believe it is more or less a fad among Englishwomen to affect to be a little deaf. Fashion is a queer thing, and there is no length to which women will not go in following the leaders of the mode.—Chicago News.

A Handsome Russian Bandit.

The famous Russian woman bandit, who has for the last ten years been the terror of Servia, has been captured in a cave on the Roumanian frontier, where she was nursing her sick lover. Young, handsome and a perfect markswoman, she went about in man's dress, with her belt full of weapons and her rifle slung on her saddle, at the head of a band of devoted Haiducks, with whom she committed her robberies.—Nashville American.

The Growth of Women's Clubs.

In her speech at the Brooklyn Woman's club reception Mrs. Charlotte Emerson Brown, president of the Federation of Woman's Clubs, gave some significant statistics of the organization. "Two years ago," said Mrs. Brown, "the federation included fifty clubs from eighteen states; now there are 150 clubs from thirty states, with an average club membership of 102, representing over 15,000 women."—New York Letter.

In the Plush Bag.

New opera glass cases have a secret compartment at the bottom of the velvet or plush bag, whose clasp is hidden from all save the owner. In this hidden receptacle are stowed away a powder puff, a comb, a bottle of sal volatile and two or three hairpins, and the cover of the case is a mirror. A woman of ordinary ingenuity could make a week's stay with this condensed little toilet case.—New York Herald.

A Chair Carried Beneath the Gown.

One of the most original inventions of the day is a little portable and invisible chair, which is very light and easily adjusted under a lady's gown, so that it does not interfere at all with her walking. Arrived at the point where the person desires to rest, all that is necessary is to assume a position as if about to sit down on an ordinary chair, by which motion the apparatus adjusts itself.—New York Journal.

In 1888 the Pennsylvania Medical college, the school which southern women usually select, graduated but one student from the south. This year there are twenty-five southern women registered in that college, five of whom intend to go as medical missionaries to foreign countries.

Miss Marsden, who is striving to better the condition of the lepers in Siberia, reports that she has been treated with the greatest kindness by the Russian nation. She has collected $5,000 toward a hospital for the poor creatures, whose condition she describes as frightful.

A marked feature of the recent woman suffrage convention was the great number of public men and prominent women in the political world associated actively in its deliberations.

A young woman in Indiana has been promoted to the position of agent at Noblesville for efficient work at a small station. She is in the employ of the Midland railroad.

RED BLUFF, Sept. 25, 1891.

METROPOLITAN Dispensary—Gentlemen:

Six weeks ago, when I first wrote you, I did not think it possible that such a wonderful change could be wrought in such a case as mine. I was a victim of Nervous Debility and Insomnia, caused by my own indiscretion. I was unable to sleep sometimes for three and four days on a stretch, and then only for an hour or so. I had been doctoring for months, and the best physicians on the coast pronounced my case hopeless. I was dying, dying slowly but surely, yet able to be up and around. Your first treatment was a revelation, to me, and in a short time was fast asleep, and after 24 hours I felt certain that you would cure me. I have gained more than 20 lbs. in six weeks. I can only say "God bless you.

W. W. WILSON

Miss Nellie Wilson of Watsonville, Cal. wrote us as follows:

DEAR SIRS:—Enclosed please find P. O. order for the balance due you. It is unnecessary to send another treatment, as I am entirely cured.

MISS NELLIE WILSON.

Mother says that I'm well, and I quite agree with her. My hearing is completely restored, the roaring noises in my right ear are also gone.

I have gained 15 pounds of weight in the two months of your treatment. My sense of smell has also returned, although it was about gone, as you will remember.

MISS NELLIE WILSON.

Such evidence as this, coming from responsible parties, cannot be ignored by the afflicted. We would be glad to have you write to these parties and see for yourselves. We have thousands of similar testimonials on file in our office.

The Metropolitan Dispensary

Women in New York Banks.

Certain of the up town banks make a specialty of attention to women depositors and try all manner of schemes to make them feel comfortable. And they truly do more to encourage the daintiness of the toilet than all the beauty shops in town. One of these banks, right in the heart of the shopping district, has just behind the cashier's desk a softly curtained door, through which may be seen the corner of a fresh, white apron. This belongs to a bright faced woman, who is ready and waiting to repair any damages to one's gown that may have developed during the tour of the shops. Needles, scissors and silk of all shades, buttons and pins are all waiting to be used, while whisk brooms and bottles of shoe dressing are close at hand. And then the washstand, a deep oval basin sunk in a spotless marble slab, with well kept nickel faucets to supply hot and cold water, two or three cakes of soap are on one side and on the other a pile of snowy damask towels; mirrors are everywhere, and the girl must be careless indeed of her comfort and her fringe who will not run in for a moment in passing.

The waiting woman in charge of this room scorns with an unlimited scorn the girl or woman who deposits her wealth in her stocking. She says it is astonishing how many people carry their valuable in that singular hiding place. A little chamois bag holds the bills, and that is fastened to the garter for greater security. She has a trifle less disdain for those who open three or four buttons of their frock and slip the precious roll inside. She thinks the money can be produced with fewer gymnastics in the latter case than when the lower receptacle is made use of. She tries to deter women from putting money in their stockings by telling a dire tale of a girl whose thin stocking wore through, causing the unconscious capitalist to shed wealth at every step.—New York Press.

Brought the Officials to Terms.

A determined German brought the officials of a New Jersey railroad company to terms. So crowded was a local train on the Morris and Essex railroad that many of the passengers could not find seats. As the train started, an indignant Teuton stopped the train by pulling the bell cord and demanded that an empty car on the track be attached. The other passengers sustained him, but the demands were not heeded. When the train started again the German once more pulled the bell cord and announced that he would pull it every time the train started unless another car was attached. After considerable dispute the railroad officials gave in, backed down the train, attached another car, and thus furnished seats for all its passengers.—Yankee Blade.

A Meteor with Gold in It.

The discovery of gold in a meteorite which has just been made by Federal Government Geologist Turner in California, is of unusual interest. The meteorite in question is about the size of a man's fist, and around a good portion of it is a solid film of gold. In one part the metal is about an inch square. Gold has never before been found in connection with meteoric iron, and it demonstrates, says Mr. Turner, "that there is gold in the worlds of space."—New York Recorder.

BACCILLI IN BLOOD.

Recent experiments as read before the last Congress of Surgeons at Berlin, leave no doubt that the true way to CLEAR THE SYSTEM OF MICROBI is through the pores of the skin. It has been found that a remedy which kills the Microbi will also destroy the life of the patient; but it has also been found that the Microbi can be forced out through the skin, and it is in this way that S.S.S. relieves the system of poison.

HAVING SUFFERED much from Contagious Blood Poison, after using half a dozen bottles of S.S.S. I was RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH, and all eruptive sores disappeared. You are at liberty to make any use of my statement that you wish.—J. CROSBY BYRON, 208 Third Avenue, Pittsburg, Pa.

Treatise on Blood and Skin diseases mailed free.
